

1858

Theodore Roosevelt

1919

As a young boy, Theodore Roosevelt discovered his love of animals and taxidermy. While he enjoyed hunting big game animals—like bears, lions, and rhinos—he would also support hunting laws to protect animals from being overhunted.

It looks like Roosevelt just got some good news! What do you think he's "dee-lighted" about?

THEODORE
Roosevelt
CENTER

